

BACKACHE IS A DANGER SIGNAL

Kidney Troubles, Bladder Disorders, Rheumatism, and Serious Diseases Follow.

The kidneys get clogged up, the same as the bowels do. Then they become sluggish, and only filter or strain out a part of the waste or poisonous matter, all the rest remaining in the blood and poisoning the system.

As soon as you notice the first indications of backache, pains in the sides, or aches around the kidneys, or if the urine is light and pale, dark colored, cloudy, thick, or has an offensive odor, burns, is scalding or irregular in passage, take a little Croxone three times a day and end these troubles, before they become more serious.

There is no more effective remedy known for the prompt relief and cure of kidney, bladder troubles and rheumatism than Croxone. It soaks right into the kidneys through the walls and lining, cleans out the clogged up pores, neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid and waste matter that lodge in the joints and muscles, and causes these terrible rheumatic pains, and makes the kidneys filter the poison from the blood and drive it out of the system.

A few days' use of this new scientific preparation is often all that is ever needed to end the worst backache, or overcome the most annoying urinary disorders.

You will find Croxone entirely different from other remedies. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it without results. An original package costs but a trifle, and all druggists are authorized to return the purchase price if it should fail in a single case.—Advertisement.

MILITIA COMPANY HAS FULL NUMBER

Col. Stern Will Muster Highland Springs Command Into Service Wednesday Night.

With the enlistment last night of its sixty-first man, the infantry company which has been in the course of organization for the past two months at Highland Springs is now a certainty and will be mustered into the service of the State on Wednesday night by Colonel J. Lane Stern, assistant inspector general, Virginia Volunteers. Orders will then be given for the examination of the company officers, and upon their qualification, arms and equipment will be issued to the new command. It is probable that the drill will begin immediately after the holidays.

The organization of the company was accomplished with great dispatch, and a fine personnel has been secured. Each of the sixty-one men recruited by law has passed a rigid physical examination, and as many of them have already had previous military experience, it is expected that the outfit will be in a position to hold its own with any of the other State organizations at the next annual encampment.

Fred Holden, formerly of the regular army, has been elected captain of the company. His lieutenants are Dr. J. A. Cloyd and Wallace Fox, both of whom are graduates of military schools. From experienced men the following noncommissioned officers have been appointed by Captain Holden: J. W. Hardy, first sergeant; B. T. Lefew, quartermaster sergeant; S. Hunter, William Dierfel, Byron Weeks, Charles Grey and George B. Dierfel, sergeants; Arthur C. A. P. Bennett, J. W. Murdell, corporal, and McGuire Turner and Alfred Fry, privates.

The company will be attached to the Fourth Virginia Regiment, commanded by Colonel Lewis, whose headquarters are located at Luray.

DESCHAMPS STIRS
UP HORNETS' NEST

Well-Known Parisian Writer Severe Criticizes American Women.

SALON DOORS CLOSED TO HIM

France, in Common With All Europe, Knows His Views Are False.

BY MARQUIS DE CASTELLANE.

Paris, December 6.—Emile Deschamps, a well-known Parisian, who is on the fringe of the literary world, has stirred up a hornet's nest. American women, Franco-American women and a large section of French society in sympathy with both, are shutting the doors of their salons against him. R. M. Deschamps' unpardonable sin is that he has criticized American women severely in a book, "The Women of Uncle Sam." He professes to base his knowledge upon a long experience in the United States.

Deschamps starts out by saying that the American woman thinks the world was made for her sole pleasure. The serious women of the American colony, who devote much time and money to philanthropy, are up in arms at this. Mrs. Whitney Hoff, who interests herself in thousands of students and other young girls, Miss Hardest, who cooperates with Mrs. Deacon Smith, who runs a hospital in connection with Holy Trinity Church; Countess de Spottswood-Mackin, who takes care of the poor Italian children of Paris; Mrs. Frank Mason, who is associated with every good work; Mrs. John W. Mackay, whose check book is ready for every charity, all resent the imputation that American women are mere creatures of pleasure.

M. Deschamps goes beyond the bounds of reason when he calls the American woman despotic, aggressive and imperious. On the contrary, we Frenchmen know that the American woman easily accommodates herself to circumstances and new surroundings. Here in France some of our most successful chateaux are Americans. Such, for instance, are the Countess de Rodolphe, the Duchesse de la Rochefoucauld, the Countess de Moy, the Countess de Chandon.

No Care for Children. M. Deschamps insists that American women do not wish to be mothers, and when they have children they do not care for them.

The truth is that the American mother, like the French mother, if anything, takes too much care of her children. The former, by excessive care, makes them precocious, the latter, by a different kind of excessive care, brings them up too softly.

When M. Deschamps tells us that American women are indifferent to their husbands' success in life, we ever have known he is wrong. Take those American women who are married to foreign diplomats and note how they advance their husbands' interests. You find them in every country. In Washington you have Miss Jussend, formerly Miss Richards, wife of the French ambassador, and the wife of the Russian ambassador to the United States, Mrs. Heald.

All over Europe, in distinctly society circles, not less than in the diplomatic set, the American woman makes her country known and respected. From the Duchess of Marlborough, in London, to Princess Cantacuzene, in St. Petersburg, and from the Princess Rasputin, in Rome, to Madame de Hagermann, in Denmark, the flag of the American republic is kept flying, while at the same time these accomplished women and their companions perform the highest social duties.

There is no use in losing more time upon a man who says the American woman is no wife, nor lover, nor mother. I should only convince him by stating his will. May I add that his views do not represent those of France.

HAMPDEN-SIDNEY
PUSHES CANVASS

Adding Steadily to Subscriptions in $100,000 Endowment Fund Campaign.

More than $12,500 has been raised by Hampden-Sidney College in its campaign in Richmond for its $100,000 endowment fund. Reports received by the Rev. A. C. Bridgman, the financial secretary, show that about $3,000 was obtained on Sunday. On the previous Sunday, the first on which the cause was urged in local Presbyterian churches, more than $6,000 was subscribed. Mr. Bridgman will continue his work to-morrow.

According to the latest reports, more than $4,200 has been subscribed by seventy out of 800 members of the Second Presbyterian Church, who were asked to give $1,000 toward the fund. The officers of the church are conducting a campaign among the members, and expect to secure the balance of the allotted amount without difficulty.

In the First Presbyterian Church $3,425 has been reported subscribed, the congregation being asked for $5,000.

The Grace Street Presbyterian Church has subscribed $2,750, and will complete its allotted subscription within a few days. It was asked to give $3,500.

About $1,500 has been reported from seven smaller congregations, and the campaign is being pressed to success in each. Mr. Bridgman is confident of securing the amount desired. Contributions should be mailed to A. C. Bridgman, 306 Mutual Building, city.

DR. PRATT SPEAKS ON NEW ROADS.

Interest Aroused in "Crest" Highway, to be Built from Boone to Bristol.

Special to The Times-Dispatch. Bristol, Va., December 6.—Looking to the building of the "Crest" or the Blue Ridge Highway from Boone through the counties of Watauga and Ashe, in North Carolina, and thence through Johnson and Sullivan counties in Tennessee, to Bristol, and to connect with the highways of Virginia here and at Damascus, Va., a big road meeting was held at Mountain City, Tenn., to-day, with Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, State Highway Commissioner of North Carolina, and president of the Southern Appalachian Good Roads Association, as the principal speaker. Dr. Pratt urged the completion of this road through the picturesque Appalachian region, as one of the most important highway projects ever undertaken in the South. He urged the Tennesseans to join hands with the Carolinians to complete this great highway.

Former Governor Cox of Tennessee, State Senator Edward E. Butler, and R. E. Donnelly were among the speakers.

Much interest was manifested, and a host of hands looking to the making of bonds to accomplish this and other road work was aroused.
